RE: Quarterly Inventory and the Persistent Ghosts of Spring

Dear team,

The warehouse count finished at 14,207 units, which is 112 more than the system predicted. The discrepancy traces back to the west rack, where boxes are stacked by hand and the barcode scanner gives up on dust. We will rescan that rack on Friday and credit the difference.

The second item is more unusual. Two crates labeled "sprouted bulbs" have started to germinate in the loading bay. No one ordered bulbs. No one remembers ordering bulbs. The crates arrived with a packing slip that reads only: "You know what these are for."

We are scheduling a meeting to discuss the bulbs.

Signed,
Operations
